Injured motorcyclist wins million dollar settlement

A factory worker was riding his motorcycle to a local bank on a Saturday morning, when he was struck by an auto that pulled out from a stop sign at a dangerous intersection.

The motorcyclist, who suffered brain injury, was represented by an attorney from the Reading, Pennsylvania law firm of Liever, Hyman and Potter.

The $1,040,000 settlement included the maximum that could be collected from the state, as well as from the municipality, as a result of improper highway design. The law firm also obtained the policy limit for vehicle driver's negligent operation.
