Road Rage Ramming Draws $600K Settlement for Victim

A Berks County resident was visiting friends in Arizona, when the car in which she was a passenger became the target of road rage, and was struck by another vehicle. The woman suffered fractures of a leg, arm, wrist, and shoulder. The Pennsylvania law firm of Liever, Hyman and Potter recovered for her the $600,000 policy limit of underinsured motorist coverage, plus the responsible motorist's minimum coverage of $15,000.
